

Virginia Tech is committed to providing a learning and working environment free from harassment and discrimination.

University Policy No. 1025 prohibits discrimination and harassment against employees and students on the basis of age, color, disability, sex (including pregnancy), gender, gender identity, gender expression, genetic information, national origin, political affiliation, race, religion, sexual orientation, military status, or any other basis protected by law. The university also prohibits retaliation for reporting discrimination or harassment on any of these bases.

Title IX Responsible Employee Reporting to the University

University Policy No. 1026 specifies that any responsible employee who receives a report of behavior that might be construed as sexual harassment or violence, or sex or gender-based violence must report the behavior. “Responsible employees” are those who serve as administrators, supervisors, academic advisors; give instruction; or have responsibilities for on-campus student activities, or student or employee discipline.
